

SUMMARY

CICASP Seminar in Science Communication #120*

Scientific debates

5 PM-, Wednesday, January 29, 2020 (PRI Large Conference Room)

In this seminar, we introduced the concept and format of debates with some examples. We covered numerous useful tips for delivering effective argument and discussed the points that need to be considered in structuring a scientific debate. After this discussion, the participants selected scientific debate topics and formed teams for mock debates next week.

OUTLINE

CICASP Seminar in Science Communication #121*

Scientific debates

5 PM-, Wednesday, February 5, 2020 (PRI Large Conference Room)

In next week's workshop, we will perform team debates on some recent science-related controversies. Even if you missed last week's seminar, we will be delighted to have you in the audience, and welcome you to share your thoughts after the debates. Please check the scientific debate poster for more details.

*This workshop will not be videocast to WRC, but WRC students are welcome to attend it at PRI.

 We are calling for volunteers to organize the next Inuyama Nerds in February/March. Please contact us if you have a topic you would like to "nerd out" about! Also, we would love to hear everyone's thoughts on the Inuyama Nerds events so far—please take this quick online survey and give us your feedback: https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLScNAsZ5-9_4wh2H1Qq5ifxJ9VNOs_DIXoxq0YIphUCFIgLpoA/viewform

Schedule of CICASP workshops [Fall 2019/2020]

January/February Block (02/19, 02/26, 03/04): Career development tools #1
Create an appealing summary of your academic profile and research interest for CV and professional online profile, building a Professional Biography.

On the Horizon:

- Interview practices—prepare for future interviews (for jobs and grant applications), find the best way to introduce yourself, review and anticipate questions.
- Science blogging – fantastic way to share your research and ideas with a broader audience.